

Letter to Alexander Berkman

Anna Sasnovsky

July 15, 1925

Anarchist Aid Society for Political Prisoners
New York July 15, 1925

Dear Comrade:

Your letter of June 20 received. You will please pardon the long delay in answering it. Due to some reasons it was impossible to get the comrades together any sooner.

Regarding the question of sending money through you or direct to the prisoners has been discussed several times before. Our group is still with the opinion that we make as many direct connections as we possibly can. We shall continue sending money through your channels and direct addressees. This matter will however be under consideration again when we make our final decision on the form of organization.

Your second proposition, the amalgamation of the four wings into one, was taken up and discussed from all angles. We considered it from a principle point of view as well as from a practical. We have a definite division of opinion on this matter. Some maintain that combining forces with other factions means diminishing our activity. It will divide more than unite us. Our group is very well known in the labor circles. It is very well known that we have struggled through great difficulties and yet maintain our work alone. The small amounts we are able to collect is of greater value in my own opinion. It makes it much more pleasant to work with our own forces than lean upon the shoulders of others. The money we collect comes from entertainments and other great efforts. It is made quite clear for what the money is collected. Some of the Comrades were with the same opinion as you.

We have taken no definitive action for the time being. Several of our active comrades are away for a short time and since the difference of opinion is wide therefore we decided to postpone our final decision for about a month. We have meanwhile appointed a committee to get in touch with the other groups if there are any or individuals to find out what they are doing and how.

I suppose you have already received the $50 sent two weeks ago. We shall send you some more very soon. We have arranged a concert and dance for next month which I hope will bring us in some funds. It will be held in Coney Island where many idlers spend valuable time. It is there where people find themselves in hot summer days.

As you already notice that our secretary is away, I shall correspond with you until she gets back.

With comradely greetings,
Acting Sec'y
Anna L. Sasnovsky

The Anarchist Library (Mirror)
Anti-Copyright

Anna Sasnovsky
Letter to Alexander Berkman
July 15, 1925

Retrieved on 10th September 2021 from forgottenanarchism.wordpress.com
Copied from the IISH Berkman papers hdl.handle.net

usa.anarchistlibraries.net